MLA 7th Edition – Article from an Online Journal

Use the full names of all authors. List the first author by last name and use standard name format for subsequent authors.

Write the article's title in proper title format with a period at the end and in quotation marks.

Harper, Lin, and Jerry Ross. "An Application of Knowles' Theories of Adult Education to an Undergraduate Degree Program." Journal of Continuing Higher Education. 59.3 (2011): Education Research Complete. Web. 17 Oct. 2013.

Hanging indent.

Italicize the journal's title and the name of the database you used. For some assignments, professors will want a variety of databases in order to demonstrate that you've looked at a variety of research.

Did you find this article online or in print?

When did you find the article? Day, month (short form with a period), year.

Volume and issue number. Year of publication in parentheses.

MLA 7ᵗʰ Edition In-Text Citation Flow Chart

Is it a direct quote?

Yes

No

Is the author's name in the sentence?

Is the author's name in the sentence?

Yes

No

Yes

No

Harper and Ross found that adult learners "seek opportunities to apply new knowledge" (31).

Adult learners "seek opportunities to apply new knowledge" (Harper and Ross 31).

According to Harper and Ross, the adult learner benefits from a practice-based education (31).

The adult learner benefits from a practice-based education (Harper and Ross 31).