

Nipissing University Indigenous Council on Education (NUICE)

Terms of Reference

Background Early in the 1980's, an academic leader at Nipissing University reached out to the local Indigenous community and established an informal round table on education. The purpose of the group was to help guide the University's direction in Indigenous post-secondary education. Building on the roundtable, in the early 1990's a formal Aboriginal Council on Education (ACE) was established. Aided by funds and initial reporting requirements to the Ministry of Education, the Nipissing University Indigenous Council on Education set out to help the university recruit and retain more Indigenous learners among a variety of responsibilities. Today the Nipissing University Indigenous Council on Education seeks to continue the partnerships developed with local Indigenous communities and to see those develop further and help to achieve Indigenous communities' goals in education as well as those of Nipissing University.

In 2015, the final report from the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) and 94 Calls to Action were released. The year 2016 marked the 20th year anniversary of the release of the Report of the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples (RCAP). These pivotal reports highlighted a renewed discussion and focus on equity for Indigenous peoples but also the role institutions play in reconciliation.

All members will select "reply all" when providing comments so that these will be shared simultaneously with all members and a record will be kept of the email exchange.
 - c) If a resolution is required, the Chair may authorize the Recording Secretary from the Office of Indigenous Initiatives to conduct an electronic vote of the members. A clear rationale will be given to the members to explain why a motion is necessary. The question to be answered will be stated clearly in the form of a specific resolution provided for members' consideration. Respondents will be asked to vote upon the resolution.
 - d) In the event of an electronic vote, a reasonable and adequate time will be determined for members to respond to the request for a decision. Members will have the opportunity to declare a conflict and not participate in the vote. Every effort will be made to obtain a response from each member (i.e. allow each person to register their vote). The resolution shall be deemed to have been approved only if, by the end of the time period specified, the Recording Secretary has received approval responses from a majority of the voting members. Non-response to an electronic vote will be considered an abstention. Voting records will be kept.

- e) A resolution approved by email polling and electronic voting, permitted by the Chair and passed by a majority of voting members, shall have the same force and effect as a resolution passed at a regularly constituted meeting of the NUICE.
