

TIPS TO AVOID JOB SCAMS

IF IT SEEMS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE, IT PROBABLY IS

Things to look for:

No application or interview

Most jobs require an application and interview process.

Asked for money or your credit card information

Companies should not be asking for you to wire money or provide your credit card information. This is a scam.

High pay for little work

Always question if the amount of work does not match the pay.

Asked for a credit report

A company can ask for a credit check, but be very careful if it is not relevant to the role.

Asked to pay for training

Companies should not ask you to pay for training or work supplies.

Off Emails

If you send an email inquiry and receive a quick response stating they reviewed your resume when you haven't sent it.

No job contact information

Job postings with no contact information is a red flag. Job postings should include a contact information for a company or person.

Phishing scams

Emails asking you to click links are potential phishing scams looking to collect your information for identity theft.

Always do your homework & research the company before applying!
