

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN MATHEMATICS

2026 SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS FOR INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

The Master of Science in Mathematics program consists of course work plus a Major Research Paper (MRP) or Thesis. The MRP route is a one-year (1 year/12 months) full-time program. The Thesis route is available as a two-year (2 year/24 months) full-time program, or a four-year (2 years/24 months + 6 flex terms/24 months) flex-time program. Our program trains students for future work in research, industry, business, or government, and provides a strong background in foundational areas of mathematics. Our faculty members are experts in topology, analysis, combinatorics and graph theory, industrial and applied mathematics, with research in scheduling, computational problems, numerical mathematics, and optimization. Many faculty work on inter- and multi-disciplinary research in geography, the physical and health sciences, social sciences, business, and management, to name only a few. Graduate students therefore also have an opportunity to perform research on the interface of mathematics and other disciplines.

your research. You will find some useful advice here: <https://www.grad.ubc.ca/prospective-students/application-admission/statement-interest>, or contact one of our faculty members for advice.

Select Statement of Interest under Program Specific Document Requirements when uploading your document.
