UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH CONFERENCE

March 27+28, 2026

Nipissing University, North Bay

Keynote Speaker – Dr. Stephen Connor

There Is No Later. This Is Later: History Without Distance

There Is No Later. This Is Later considers how encounters with war, displacement, and their human consequences have reshaped my practice of military history and my approach to teaching. This keynote is not an argument that history offers reassurance, warning, or moral immunity, but a claim about method and ethics in a moment when distance between past and present has collapsed.

Stephen Connor is an Associate Professor of History at Nipissing and co-founder and Associate Director of the Centre for the Study of War, Atrocity, and Genocide. Dr. Connor's research focuses on popular culture, collective memory, and the ways conflict is represented and understood by public audiences. His work sits at the intersection of military and cultural history, with particular attention to how pop culture shapes historical knowledge, ethical interpretation, and public memory.

Event is free and open to the public.

Greetings, Aanii!

I am delighted to welcome you to the 19th Annual Undergraduate Research Conference (UGRC) at Nipissing University. This event is a celebration of the exceptional research, scholarly, and creative activities produced by students, in collaboration with their faculty mentors. It provides a compelling showcase of the quality of our programs and strength of our students' work across the humanities, social sciences, sciences, and health-related disciplines.

This year's program offers attendees ample opportunity to engage in quiet reflection or lively discussion, while we gather and contemplate our world from diverse perspectives. The keynote address, entitled There is No Later. This is Later, will be delivered by Dr. Stephen Connor, Associate Professor of History at Nipissing University. It promises to challenge how we think about history and the ways in which current events shape our perceptions of the past and present. Students will share their work via art installations, poetry readings, posters, and panel presentations. While common topics, such as environmental change and how we construct our identities, appear throughout the program, each student presentation challenges us to contemplate the topic through a different lens and presentation modality.

The UGRC wouldn't be possible without the dedication and efforts of our organizing committee. Our faculty volunteers – Hilary Earl, Laurie Kruk, Nathan Kozuskanich, Dana Murphy, and Laura Peturson – have collaborated alongside staff from the Office of Research and Innovation to create a wonderful celebration of our students' work. Please join me in expressing gratitude to the full committee for developing an outstanding event.

I hope that you enjoy this year's conference and encourage you to seek out new ideas and consider perspectives that may seem very different from your own. Whether you are a student, staff member, faculty, alumni, Board member, or visitor to our campus, we are excited to welcome you to this wonderful event. Thank you, Miigwech for supporting and celebrating the accomplishments of student scholars.

Associate Vice-President, Research, Innovation, & Graduate Studies

Hello, and welcome to the Undergraduate Research Conference!

On behalf of the Nipissing University Student Union (NUSU), we would like to extend congratulations to all students presenting their work at this year's UGRC. This event is a great opportunity for students to highlight the creativity, dedication and intellectual curiosity here at Nipissing University. We are proud to see the student community come together to share their research and engage in scholarly discussions.

NUSU is committed to supporting students through academic excellence and social growth. Events such as the UGRC provide an important platform for students to showcase their work and contribute to the academic community here at Nipissing.

We would like to wish all presenters and attendees a successful and inspiring conference!

Sincerely,

The Nipissing University Student Union

During this panel, we will discuss Susan Sontag's pathbreaking book, Regarding the Pain of Others. From Goya's etches to photography to digital recordings, from the Crimean War to the current war on Iran, we analyze why people are drawn to images of other people's pain. We examine the roles of sympathy and voyeurism in understanding and ending war, and the ethics of bearing witness to images of atrocity. This roundtable emerges out of course work done in GEND 3216, Testimony and Witness.
